

Sambuchi leaving GC Steel for Great Lakes

EDWARD SAMBUCHI

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Editor
Edward L. Sambuchi, vice president and general manager of the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corp., will be leaving Granite City next month and will become the head of the Great Lakes Steel Division in Detroit, Mich., Aug. 1.

Named to replace Sambuchi in Granite City is William D. Swanson, currently vice president-operations at Granite City Steel. Swanson has been with National Steel since 1960 and with Granite City Steel since 1974.

THE SHIFTING of positions is the result of Burton J. Fischley, vice president and general manager of the Great Lakes Steel Division, announcing that he will retire Aug. 1 after 43 years of service with the corporation.

In a written announcement to National Steel employees, the company said it had confidence in Sambuchi, who has headed GC Steel since October 1982.

"He (Sambuchi) is no stranger to Great Lakes Steel," the announcement states. Sambuchi began his career with National at Great Lakes in 1938 after receiving a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N.Y. While at Great Lakes, Sambuchi advanced through several positions to manager of maintenance in October 1974, assistant general plant superintendent in 1979 and later assistant to the president.

HE MOVED TO West St. Louis County and became the vice president-operations for Granite City Steel in January 1982. In October of that year, he became vice president and general manager, the top position here.

"Ed has demonstrated the leadership and management style needed to assume the top position at Great Lakes Steel," the announcement said.

Sambuchi has been active in the community, serving as a member of the Tri-Cities Area United Way, as a member of the board of directors of Colonial Bank of Granite City and First Granite City National Bank and was a frequent speaker at

Chamber of Commerce, United Way and other events.

HE IS A member of the American Iron and Steel Institute, the Association of Iron and Steel Engineers, the Southwestern Illinois Leadership Council and other organizations.

Sambuchi has been praised from many fronts for playing an important role in turning Granite City Steel from losses to profitability, creating the "vision" of a better GC Steel among all employees, helping draft the "Mission" statement for quality and profitability and improving communications among employees at all levels.

In April of this year, Sambuchi denied rumors he was leaving in the near future, saying that Fischley did

New school loan soon

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

With school finance weighing heavily on their minds, Granite City School Board members met Tuesday night until 1 o'clock and also scheduled a special meeting on finance for June 19.

The regular June 19 meeting earlier was moved to June 26, when necessary year-end fiscal transfers will be considered. The fiscal year is July 1 to June 30.

BOARD MEMBERS conferred in executive session with their negotiators and also with two financial authorities, Dennis Daniels of Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, and then Don Lindberg of Dougherty, Dawkins, Strand & Yost, Inc., Minneapolis.

Bids on an additional school loan are to be opened next week. The loan is intended to ease this summer's cash flow.

Annual real estate tax collection is expected to begin one month to two months later this year than last year.

The board Tuesday night also: —DISCUSSED IN DETAIL the ways in which it could upgrade the district's computer equipment and procedures.

—Awarded contracts for $168,769 in roofing work on six schools.

—Called for detailed cost-benefit comparisons on proposed boiler im-

City urges hiring developer

Members of the Granite City Council approved a motion Tuesday night to write a letter to the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce in reference to the downtown redevelopment effort. The letter will request that the downtown merchants hire a coordinator to spearhead the redevelopment of the downtown area.

The council was divided, however, as to whether the city should help to defray the cost of the coordinator.

ALDERMAN Sam Whitmer said he feels the city has done its duty by paying for the study that was conducted about the downtown area, some $10,000. "I think the rest of the redevelopment effort should be left up to the merchants. It's time for them (the merchants) to either fish or cut bait," he said.

Alderman Sharon Perjak said she disagreed that it was the downtown retailers who should pay for the coordinator. She said she feels the city should pay half of the salary.

Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk said Belleville conducted a similar project a few years ago. "I think the council members there took the position that they would be ready to pass any ordinance or approve any kind of grant for the redevelopment project," he said. "I agree that there should be someone hired to coordinate the effort, because neither the council nor the merchants have the time to do the necessary work."

FISK SAID he was not opposed to defraying some of the expense of hiring a coordinator. He said he thinks the man hired by Belleville merchants was paid $18,000 a year. Fisk said the salary for the downtown developer in Belleville was paid from merchant membership fees.

Mayor Paul Schuler said that he does not intend to let the downtown redevelopment effort "die" this time. "I think our ultimate goal at this point should be to find a person to do the footwork for the project," he said.

Whitmer reiterated his reasons for not wanting to pay any part of the developer's salary. "The merchants and property owners in the downtown area have really let their property go," he said. "Nobody is taking an interest in the way things look. These people down here have just sat and sat. I don't think the rest of the city should bail these people out."

FISK SAID HE feels paying for a part of the salary won't be a cost to the city in the long run. "In Belleville, the redevelopment of the downtown raised the sale tax to the city to more than $1 million in a couple of years," he said.

Alderman Casmer Skubish said he is not in favor of paying any of the developer's salary unless it is a last resort.

No formal action was taken on whether or not the city would help fund the salary of the developer.

Controversy over hiring

By SINA SIGNAIGOWICH
of the Press-Record

Members of the Granite City Council agreed Tuesday night to hire a third employee in the city engineering department to perform work on the repair of the city's sewer breaks.

Mike Howlett, a recent graduate of Granite City High School, was hired for $5 an hour to perform drafting work on the breaks. He was hired in addition to two engineering students, who will be doing field work on the sewer breaks.

ACTING CITY ENGINEER Ed Schulze told council members that he needed to hire a draftsman so that he would be able to direct the two field persons and coordinate with Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield on the repair operations.

Schulze said he got the name of the draftsman from the high school. "I've seen his work and he's got a pretty fair hand," he said.

SECOND WARD Alderman Sam Whitmer asked Schulze why he didn't request to hire the draftsman a month ago, when he had asked for two engineering students.

Schulze said he did not bring up this employee at that time because he wanted "to check him out and see if he had some kind of talent or not."

Alderman Phillip Miller asked Schulze how much supervision Howlett would need.

SCHULZE REPLIED that he would probably spend an hour a day with the draftsman.

Alderman Sharon Perjak questioned the expertise of Howlett. "This is another example of the city hiring unqualified people for the job," she said. "Why don't we hire people that are trained for the position? We don't have the time or the money to be hiring unqualified persons."

Alderman Everett Morlen said he was tired of all the arguing that occurs when a department head requests an additional employee. "In

Mayor blasts aldermen

During the council discussion surrounding the hiring of the draftsman in the engineering department, tempers flew.

Mayor Paul Schuler made derogatory comments to several aldermen who questioned the hiring of the additional employee.

AT ONE POINT during a question from Alderman Jake Varadian, Schuler stopped Varadian mid-sentence and said "Don't twist my words the way you so like to do. Now, go on, continue."

Later, when Schuler commented on the probable salary of a professional draftsman ($30,000 to $35,000), Alderman Sharon Perjak moaned. Upon hearing the noise Schuler exploded. "I heard that too, ooh-a," he said mimicking her.

LATER STILL in the discussion, Alderman Woody Moad commented that the city had sent out sewer plans for bids last year.

Schuler said "That's one lie you've told — go ahead, continue."

He also told aldermen that if they did not hire the extra person, the responsibility for the sewer breaks would be on their backs.

Arrest woman after tussle with officer

Iva VanMeter, 35, of 2815 Edwards St., was charged with disorderly conduct during the weekend, following an incident outside her home. According to reports, an officer went to the dwelling to talk with the woman about another matter when she allegedly began yelling at him, using obscenities about a male friend, and then made threats, screamed and cursed the officer. Told he would return to talk with her when she had settled down, the officer was preparing to leave when the woman allegedly ran in front of the squad car, leaned in the window and poked the officer in the side of his head. She allegedly swung at him, pulling him toward the car door by a shoulder strap. Advised at this point that she was under arrest, Mrs. VanMeter allegedly ran to the front porch of the dwelling and a struggle ensued with the officer and the woman falling down the porch steps, reports said. Mrs. VanMeter was released the same day after posting a $52 cash bond.

3 local girls win awards at March of Dimes Pageant

Several girls from Granite City won awards in the recent March of Dimes contest held at the Ramada Inn in Alton. Daria Mayhall, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene (Maggie) Mayhall, first place awards in the 7 to 9 years dress modeling and talent divisions and March of Dimes pageant. She also won the high point award for March of Dimes Princess for collecting $425 toward the fund. Last month, Daria attained the title of Miss Majorette of Illinois. Zandra Yount, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray (Sharold) Yount, achieved first place wins in the 15 years and over March of Dimes pageant and the dress modeling and talent divisions. In the latter, she twirled two fire batons and a regular baton. She also received the "Over-All Modeling Championship" in competition with all age groups and took the high point award in the 15 and older division. A student at Granite City High School, Zandra is a varsity cheerleader and is active in plays and musicals and debates. She also is a member of the Pep Club and Thespians. All three winners performed Monday night, along with other students from the Yount's School of Baton, in the Shrine Circus Parade in Granite City. They also will appear at the June 10th carnival at St. Elizabeth School under the direction of Sharold Yount. Mrs. Yount announced her students will perform without charge at group activities and before civic and community organizations. Those interested are invited to contact the director at 931-4742.

She completed her graduate studies in health systems management in 1982. The former resident worked in

2 win $2 million each in state lotto

The Illinois State Lottery created its 100th and 104th millionaires in the latest lotto. Two Chicago area residents matched all six numbers, and each will collect $2,008,400 in annual payments of $100,473 for the next 20 years. The prize amounts in the early-June lotto were higher than average because we've changed the odds," said Michael J. Jones, lottery superintendent. The grand prizes, second prizes and third prizes are all higher because players now have a choice of the numbers 01 through 44 inclusive, rather than 01 through 40, as in the past. There were 198 people who won second prizes by matching five of the six numbers. Each will receive $3,308. In addition, 15,585 individuals matched four of the six winning numbers, and each will receive a third prize of $63. The winning numbers were 11, 13, 37, 39, 40 and 41. The guaranteed grand prize for a single winner in this week's lotto will be $3.5 million. Multiple winners would share the actual cash in the grand prize pool, guaranteed to be at least $1,409,532.

Brake loss forces trucker to jump out

James A. Finnegan, 42, of St. Louis, apparently escaped serious injury after jumping from a moving tractor-trailer truck on Route 3 at Niedringhaus Avenue at 11:45 a.m. Tuesday.

Finnegan was driving north down the overpass on Route 3, approaching Niedringhaus Avenue, when he discovered the brakes on his International tractor-trailer were inoperable.

He attempted to down shift the gears, but the vehicle veered to the right and he was forced to "bail out" of the tractor, Finnegan told police.

The driverless 18-wheeler continued rolling across the shoulder of the highway, traveled through a yard at 614 Niedringhaus Ave., and stopped when it came to the median on Niedringhaus.

Finnegan injured his left leg in the jump and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was admitted. He was reported in stable condition Wednesday.

Great Lakes Container Corp. was listed as owner of the vehicle.

GC Steel losing a good leader

We suspect it came as much as a surprise to him as it did to us when it was announced yesterday that Ed Sambuchi, vice president and general manager of Granite City Steel, will be leaving next month to head National Steel's Great Lakes Division in Detroit.

It will be our loss. However, we look forward to working with Bill Swanson, who will carry on the leadership here after Sambuchi leaves.

Sambuchi told us in April that he did not expect to be leaving before early 1985. We believe he was sincere. The retirement of Burton Fischley, head of Great Lakes, was not expected in this year. However, National Steel picked an excellent replacement.

Sambuchi has been a dynamic leader, not only of the complex steel mill, but in many areas of the community. He has not been afraid to become involved.

Probably the best thing Sambuchi has done here is to improve communications between all levels of management and labor. With better communications and clearer goals, a great deal of progress has been made in the nearly two years since he took the reins at GC Steel.

Carrying the Steel Group's "Mission" statement and the local slogan translating "I" to "We," Sambuchi has worked hard to instill a "vision" of an ideal Granite City Steel in all employees and encouraged them to work toward that ideal. The "I" to "We" slogan stood for the contribution that each employee can make toward the betterment of all.

Through numerous meetings, large and small, with union and salaried employees, Sambuchi has stressed improvement and cost efficiency, and it has worked. Granite City Steel has one of the finest reputations in the nation for quality and productivity, as well as profitability. That translates into fewer people producing more steel, which left some casualties behind. Fortunately, Granite City Steel was not among the casualties.

It was normal to find Sambuchi having lunch with a mixed group of workers, including the union employees, secretaries and others. He never shrank a question from any front.

Ed Sambuchi knows the steel business, but, more important, he knows people. He knows how to communicate and how to encourage others to communicate. He will be a real plus for Great Lakes Steel.

There are many exciting challenges ahead for Granite City Steel and opportunities with its new Japanese partner. We know Bill Swanson will do a good job and offer him our encouragement and support.

Long Brimberry story ending

There was no joy in reporting the problems and prosecution of Thomas Brimberry from November 1981, when the Stix & Co. stock brokerage went out of business, through June 1984, when he was sentenced to a second round of better communications. But that kind of "rag to riches" story — rising from a low-paid clerical job to a key decision-making post and millions of dollars of wealth — had to be reported, and in detail.

Adding to the public's interest was the flamboyance of the federal agents' target. He spoke freely, often pointing out ways in which he had "outsourced" investigations as well as his own. His high-profile spending, both on himself and on acquaintances, served to attract the kind of attention that really smart law violators know must be avoided.

As noted, there is no joy in seeing a husband and father have to spend at least six years and eight months behind bars, even though it may be served in the relative comfort of a prison hospital, due to his need for medical treatment. There also is sorrow over the fact that several other persons' careers came crashing down simultaneously with Brimberry's fall.

Logically or not, many persons still see the "wisdom" of "generous Tom's" overall approach — accumulating memories of several years of lavish activities, "paid for" by a severe but not lifetime penalty. Not a bad tradeoff, they comment.

Their supposition may be inaccurate and unfair, but a lot of people, including Uncle Sam, still ask, "Where's the cash?" No matter how conservatively he conducts himself, returning to civilian life, there will be speculation about big sums stashed somewhere, such as the Caribbean.

In any case, after his long and glaring stay in the spotlight, front pages without his name will be a welcome change of pace. The replacement will be other aspects of the unending stream of good and bad news occurring in a community and metropolitan area of this size.

Wants small truck inspections abolished

To the Editor:

Being an owner of a 1/2-ton pickup truck, I would like to praise our State Rep. Sam Wolf.

A few issues back in our Press-Record Forum, I read that Rep. Sam Wolf was trying to get the state inspection of small trucks abolished. As Sam stated, it is nothing but a hardship on the people.

When truck inspections first started, I think the politicians meant well at $2 per inspection. Now the fee for a 1/2-ton pickup have gone up to $7.50 per inspection. Plus, the mechanic inspector always finds something wrong with the truck, regardless if it's a new or old truck.

To my thinking, it's become another mechanic's racket of putting more money in their pockets.

So please, Rep. Wolf, hang in there and get this racket of small truck inspections abolished.

The 'Weber Circus' accomplished nothing

To the Editor:

Well, the Weber "circus" is over now, so where are all the clowns? Mr. Amiel, Madison County, now-discredited allegations against Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber started the whole show. Has to be busy preparing his legal defense in the $3 million libel suit which Mr. Weber has brought against him. Mr. Keith Jensen, who attempted to become the unelected prosecutor in the assessments case, is out in the cold and presumably looking for another job. Mr. Paul Verticchio, whose grand jury indictments charging Mr. Weber with "official misconduct" were thrown out on May 31, is holding out his hand for $12,000 of Madison County tax money for his "services." And several of our circuit judges have had to sit back and watch justice delivered in this county by an outsider, Judge Howard Lee White of Jersey County.

One of the most hilarious features of the recent spectacular under the courthouse big top, for those spectators who don't mind having over $50,000 of their money wasted to pay an endless series of "special prosecutions" and non-local judicial talent, is the fact that Mr. Weber's foes accomplished nothing at all, except to provide Judge White with the opportunity to state, on page six of his opinion on May 31, that Weber in no way "violated a statute, civil or criminal, an administrative rule or regulation, a Supreme Court Rule, or provision of a code of ethics..." Gee, your high office can be, isn't it?

His appointment as attorney general does not elevate that office as it should be elevated. We should be following Gerald's Ford's example.

TOM HOOVER

Attorney general selection often not ideal

Apparently the appointment of Ed Meese as attorney general is going to drift until after the election. The real problem with that selection is not his indiscretions, but that it fits too comfortably in the pattern of attorneys general who are appointed primarily because they are close to the president.

I recall when a member of John F. Kennedy's staff called me and said the president-elect was thinking of appointing Bobby Kennedy as attorney general. He asked my reaction to such a possibility.

I told him that I liked Bobby, had great respect for his ability, but that the attorney general should not be appointed for his closeness to the president, rather for being a person of eminence and ability in the legal field.

President Gerald Ford's appointment of Ed Levi, former dean of the University of Chicago Law School, falls into the right category.

Not personally close to Ford, Levi was recognized throughout the nation as a legal scholar of great ability and unquestioned integrity.

I do not suggest that the other attorneys general who have been appointed are lacking integrity or ability, and it is understandable that a president will want to appoint someone with whom he can work easily.

But there is an unwritten pact in such an appointment: "This person will not upset the appointer with politically embarrassing actions. He will go along."

And so we have developed a tradi-

GRIEVES OVER LOSS OF LOCAL MARINE CAPTAIN

To the Editor: Captain David Fuzessery, United States Marine Corps, (air Wing) was killed in a fatal air crash in California while on maneuvers at 29 Palms Marine Air Base, May 16 of this year, as well as the pilot of the craft.

Most all of the Marines knew Captain Dave in his squadron, as others did as well. Captain David was a Granite City youth who pursued a military career. He was referred to by his friends as a pleasant, cheerful and easy to like guy.

I grieve over David's leaving at such a young age, while serving his country. He was my nephew, but I do not grieve, for myself or for those he had befriended and loved him or for those he had befriended in the past and who have now lost him.

I grieve for those who have not had the privilege of knowing him at all, and to whom that opportunity is now ended.

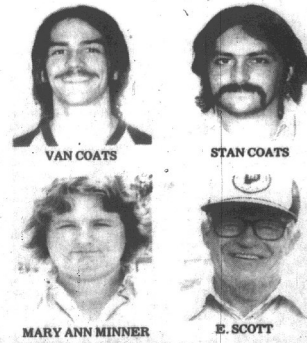

Captain David Fuzessery — forever faithful to us — we will miss you, but you will live forever in our memories.

No greater honor can be bestowed than to give your life for your country.

Nurses help monitor patients' progress

To the Editor:

I am writing this in rebuttal to the article printed in the Press-Record Forum, May 29 concerning the "use of aides to reduce costs" at SEMC.

I am a registered nurse and I work at SEMC. I am writing this to better explain to the "concerned citizen" the advantages of primary nursing.

Primary nursing is a system which includes continuity of patient care; accountability of the nurse for that care; patient-centered care that is comprehensive, individualized, and coordinated.

The principle behind this type of care is the nurse is able to assess the patient in a more holistic manner.

Nurses are trained to be alert for early objective signs in a patient's condition. The "concerned citizen" said, "he could care less if the person emptying his bedpan had a degree," but what if there was a change in the color, odor or consistency of that person's stool or urine. Would the nurse's aide be aware of that change?

If I were the patient, I'd want my physician informed of the change. I'm not saying the nurse's aide wouldn't, but with only one or two nurses on the floor to report to, availability becomes a problem. Information such as this might be lost in the lines of communication.

When one nurse is assigned a patient on a daily basis, she can not only care for his physical needs, but she's also there for the patient's emotional needs.

Nursing is more than making beds and emptying bedpans. A person's emotional state of mind is also extremely important to enhance the healing process. Isn't that what the whole objective is, to have the patient on the healthy side of the continuum so he can be discharged as soon as possible?

At SEMC, quality of care is our main objective. Quality means the people of Granite City deserve the most skilled and trained individuals caring for them during their convalescence. It has taken SEMC years to come as far as we have in holistic patient care. Please don't ask us to regress to the 1950's type of patient care because of some budget cuts.

Disliked commencement seating and sound

To the Editor:

I would like to express congratulations to all of the 1984 graduates of Granite City High School. Much to be proud of as you in your future endeavors.

As parents of a graduate and being in attendance of the first time, my husband and I have a few comments to make.

After being seated on the grass on the inside of the fence at the back of the field, we, among others, were asked to move by a police officer, to the cinder track. The officer was told by Ken Spaulding (assistant principal) to move all concerned, mentioning a "school ordinance."

Mr. Spaulding, all I can say is "Thank You" for your "thoughtfulness" to everyone.

No harm was being done by anyone. All were there to take part in this proud moment in their child's life.

Why wasn't more proper seating available for the comfort of parents and, in some cases, elderly grandparents? Surely, if chairs were not available, possibly other organizations would have lent the high school some.

In most cases, the 575 young people graduating, have two parents, which brings a total of 1,150 parents to arrange seats for. Then we have grandparents who wanted to share in this special occasion. What about them? It is hard for an elderly person to stand for several hours, isn't it? Of course, we can't forget the nonfamily members either, can we?

If this were a spur-of-the-moment occasion, I could accept the non-preparation, but it isn't.

If there is a problem with seating, then a spare of the moment should be set. Some schools do this to solve the problem. Will we?

I am sure the speeches by all concerned were very nice and commendable. It is a shame the only thing many heard were an occasional word, phrase, or name being echoed off the school buildings. Much was missed due to this fact.

Again, I believe if equipment was not available, arrangements for more could have been made. Hopefully, these problems will be corrected for future commencements.

Although my family and myself would not have missed the graduation ceremony, I can't help but feel disappointed in the mentioned areas.

I do, however, wish to commend all involved in the speediness of the time factor.

Proud of dirtiest air award?

To the Editor:

Well, we well: Granite City once again has received the honor it so richly deserves, "Dirtiest Air Anywhere."

Little wonder. To coincide with the announcement that the air pollution control board is closing its Granite City location, the board of aldermen goes on record to allow Granite City Steel the right to violate air pollution laws, fearing that they will move the plant if Granite City is too tough with them. What a laugh.

So now, under the guise of cleaning up our air, the state of Illinois is going to ram down our throats an auto emission test at car owners' expense. Tsk, tsk. This is just another way of generating revenue because they are exempting the smoke belching buses and semis from this law.

Looking forward to next year and another award.

Higher antennas planned for Madison police, firemen

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

The installation and change of location for antennas for the Madison Fire Department and Madison Police Department at a cost of $1,710 was approved by the Madison City Council Tuesday night.

Fire Chief Mike Macek reported to the council members that, due to a recent storm, the antenna at the fire department was damaged. For better reception, he suggested it be moved to the 100-foot tower at the rear of the parking lot at the city hall. Since the police department also is having problems with reception, it was agreed to move both antennas at one time.

Macek also announced the new alarm system is functional and should be in operation for everyone by the end of June.

POLICE CHIEF Don Bridick submitted a monthly report for May that reflected a 50 percent decrease in crime for the month, as compared to May of 1983.

His summation indicated two assault and battery cases, five burglaries, six thefts and three auto thefts for a total of 16 major crimes for the month of May. Fines collected amounted to $3,259.

Traffic arrests for the month reached 135 and the breakdown, by officer, noted Lt. William Papa was responsible for 11, although he was on a seven-day vacation during that period, Sgt. William Fanning registered 24, Sgt. Charles Bridick 11, Sgt. Paul Bargiel 34, Patrolman Thomas Voloski nine, Patrolman Gary Marsala 12 and Patrolman Richard Asperger 34.

AFTER HEARING the report, Mayor Mike Sasyk said, "We are now getting the productivity we have been asking for and we are all pleased with the report and the work of the officers."

Council members approved paying the monthly bill list that totaled $41,749, and a request from Judy Donaldson, acting comptroller to draw warrants from Industrial Revenue Bond funds for the payment of $156 to B&E Lumber Co. and $53 to Roviso Supply, Inc., for the David Connole Alpine Village Shopping Center.

Alderman Tom Gordon informed the council that the finance committee is involved in a series of meetings with representatives of the police department for the purpose of negotiating a salary package for the officers. "We will continue the sessions," he announced.

MAYOR SASYK reviewed a letter from the Illinois Department of Transportation in which variances along State Street from Market to 14th Street were discussed. Macek, who is working with the state on various problems, said the retaining wall and location of telephone poles along State Street was the main subject of the work project. As a result of the talks, Macek said he will have to construct a six-inch curb (to extend into State Street from the existing curb) to comply with the variances.

At the present time, the telephone poles are just two feet from the curb. "This will cut down on the width of State Street, which already is a narrow street, but we have no choice. Also, there will be no parking from Market to 10th streets and no parking on the left side from 10th to 14th street," the mayor explained.

The council accepted a list of officers and firemen for the Fire Department. All aldermen voted in favor, with the exception of Andy Economy, who abstained from the vote.

Glenn Schubert, James Shipcoff, Delbert Sipes, Kevin Sipes and George Wallace.

Cadets are, Leonard Bringer, Fred Finazzo, Roy Love, Mark Rhoads, Gene Robertson and Donald Whitecotton.

At this point of the meeting, Chief Bridick introduced his house guest, Tony Farrow from England, who is involved in a police and investigating agency in England, similar to the FBI in this country, the chief said.

Mayor Sasyk addressed the finance committee and requested they arrange a meeting with the Metro-East Sanitary District and formulate a plan as to which sewage treatment system the city of Madison should choose. "This is an important issue and we must work toward an answer to the situation," the mayor commented.

Madison charges GC woman driver

After seeing a vehicle without taillights traveling south in the 400 block of McCambridge Avenue late last week, a Madison officer halted the driver at Route 203 and Harrison Street. He alleged that the woman gave an incorrect name for which no driver's license was on file.

Asked to follow the policeman to his station, she allegedly fled. Her auto was located at the rear of an address in the 1800 block of Sixth Street.

Karen Sue Dalton, 32, of 2129 Lee Ave. was charged with resisting arrest, fleeing and attempting to elude police, not having a valid driver's license, disobeying stop signs at three intersections on Washington Avenue and driving without taillights.

Mrs. Dalton was released at 5:30 a.m. Friday after posting $100 bail pending a June 29 court appearance in Granite City.

INVESTIGATING REPORT OF CHILD SEXUAL ABUSE

Detectives are investigating a report of a man who allegedly made intimate sexual contact with an 11-year-old Granite City girl, according to information given to police late last week.

A representative of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services talked with the child at school, who alleged a male friend of the girl's mother had fondled her intimately and otherwise abused her.

Rape was not indicated in connection with the report.

COMPOUNDING A CRIME CHARGED AGAINST GC MAN

Glen Allan Hutter, 19, of 2560 Northridge, was charged last week with compounding a crime and speeding after he allegedly offered a bribe to Madison Police Sgt. Paul Bargiel, last week.

According to police officials, Hutter was stopped for speeding and while Bargiel was writing out a ticket, Hutter offered him $20 to "forget" the matter. Hutter was released on $50 cash bond.

PAINT SPRAYED ON CAR

Frank Ortiz, 2057 Cleveland Blvd., told police late last week, that he believes a teenage girl may be responsible for spraying red paint on a 1974 Plymouth. The vehicle was parked in his driveway.

Q. Could you explain about uniform gifts to minors. I understand that this is another reasonably good tax-sheltered plan for educational expenses.

A. Although such a plan may not be completely tax-sheltered, it is a good method of building an educational nest-egg. Generally, money and certain other assets, excluding real estate, are placed in a custodial gift account which can be set up at your bank. Income from the account can only be used for the benefit of the child in whose name the account was initiated. If proceeds from such an account are taxed at all, they will be taxed at the child's bracket, normally a much lower tax rate. One provision: You cannot use the income from such a plan to fulfill state mandated support obligations for such items as food, clothing and shelter. If you should do so, the income will be taxed to you, at your bracket rate. These gifts are irrevocable, and will become the child's property when he or she reaches legal age.

Transit district may offer bus service to rural areas

By PAUL GUSE

Bus service to rural areas in Madison County may be a possibility under a plan being studied by the Madison County Transit District.

The "dial-a-ride" system would allow rural county residents to call the district office 24 hours in advance to request round-trip transportation to a destination, according to Jon Ford, director of the district's van pool program.

FORD TOLD the transit board at a meeting last Thursday that the program would be an addendum to a contract which already exists to provide para-transit services.

Under the para-transit program, the transit district, through agreements with community service agencies, provides transportation for elderly and handicapped residents.

The "dial-a-ride" system was brought to the attention of the board after the Chrysler Corp. approached district officials with the plan. Chrysler has had a similar plan in operation in Greenville, S.C., since Jan. 1.

"It is an interesting idea," said board chairman William Haine. "We would be providing para-transit services to areas where services do not already exist."

"SOME PEOPLE are cut off because of geography," Haine said.

Although the "dial-a-ride" system is intended to serve people who are not served by existing bus service, but pay the quarter-cent Bi-State tax, Ford said the district may have to provide the service to some out-of-district riders.

He told the board that an out-of-district resident wanting to be transported into the district may legally be eligible for the transportation.

Haine said the district will now study the feasibility of the proposal, and will also seek a local firm which could provide the service as cheaply as Chrysler.

IN OTHER ACTION taken by the transit district last Thursday, the board voted to allocate $15,700 for asphalt and sealing.

APPEARANCE WARRANT

James Graham, 20, of 2102 Missouri Ave., was taken into custody early this week at an address in the 1500 block of Kirkpatrick Homes on a warrant alleging failure to appear in court on a charge of reckless driving. He was released upon posting a $302 cash bond.

Pleads innocent to triple charges

Joseph A. Plebanek, 20, of 5 Devon Hill Lane, entered innocent pleas to two counts of battery and one charge of aggravated assault in appearance last week before Associate Judge George Moran Jr. in the Granite City court.

Plebanek, who was released on his own recognizance, was taken into custody at Westchester Drive and Frontenac Lane shortly after he allegedly was involved in an incident at his address.

Mrs. Jacqueline Plebanek alleged her son was brought to the dwelling by a Illinois State trooper from the Bel Air Drive-In at Mitchell, following an alleged incident there in which the Granite City man was not charged.

After the trooper left, Plebanek allegedly became abusive toward his mother and 17-year-old sister. The latter alleged that her brother came into the bedroom, tore the covers off the bed and struck her neck with his fist.

He also allegedly grabbed Mrs. Plebanek, pushing and shoving her around, and picked up two knives, threatening his mother. The sister ran to a neighbor's house and local police were called.

Plebanek, meanwhile, ran from the dwelling and was unable to be found. A short time later, an officer drove past the house and saw a man, allegedly Plebanek, near the front door.

The man again ran away, but soon afterward, a police sergeant saw Plebanek walking on Westchester Drive and took him into custody.

Collinsville man charged with DUI

An officer on patrol noticed a pickup truck sitting at the left turn signal lights at 20th Street and Madison Avenue, with the vehicle remaining through several cycles of the traffic signal changes without moving last week.

The officer opened the door of the vehicle and alleged the driver did not move, so he turned off the ignition switch, reports said.

Lon R. Montgomery, 33, of Collinsville, was awakened and, at police headquarters, consented to a blood alcohol test when a breathalyzer operator was unavailable.

At St. Elizabeth Medical Center, however, Montgomery declined to take the test and was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and returned to police custody.

WINDSHIELD SMASHED
Deborah Knight of East St. Louis told police late last week, that vandals smashed the windshield on her 1973 auto while it was parked in the 100 block of Granville Street, Venice.

Rabies shots on Saturday

Anti-rabies shots for dogs and cats will be administered for $6 from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. Saturday, June 9, at the Granite City Humane Shelter on Missouri Avenue.

Also available will be distemper shots for dogs and cats and parvo virus shots for dogs. The distemper and parvo shots cost $7.

The additional clinic was scheduled because many area pets are not yet immunized for this summer. Dr. Tim Holt will be the veterinarian at the Humane Shelter on Saturday.

GC man alleges power grab by federal EPA on issue of car testing

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has gathered excessive power and is wielding it arbitrarily, inappropriately and illogically, in the opinion of Bruce Armstrong, 3136 Edwardsville Road.

A detailed presentation critical of the USEPA and of Illinois Senate Bill 1863 has been submitted by Armstrong to the Senate Transportation Committee. General Assembly action on the topic is expected this month.

The committee is holding a hearing today in Springfield on SB 1863, which would require an auto emission inspection and maintenance program in Madison and St. Clair counties and several Chicago area counties.

ARMSTRONG THINKS the federal environmental agency has embarked on a series of measures that in the end would not only encompass the entire state, but give the EPA unlimited control over all of the states and their citizens.

The immediate question is whether Illinois' two largest metropolitan areas ought to test car exhaust as a way of preventing excessive vehicle pollution of the air. Highway and other funds may be cut off by the U.S. as a penalty for inaction.

"The bill before the General Assembly is unjust, dangerously complicated and severely repressive. Its consequences are so great and alarming nothing ought to be left unattempted to defeat it, not just during this session but permanently," Armstrong contends.

"WE MUST KEEP certain facts in mind. Without them, it is literally impossible to understand what the EPA is after, and how it succeeded in venturing so far beyond its legal jurisdiction."

"In the course of our development as a nation there is no instance where a regulatory body has been able, through four steps, to place itself in a position to walk off with one state government after another and then push them through a trap more dangerous than the poisons the EPA claims are in the air."

1. He cites a Dec. 22, 1972, decision banning removal or tampering with any device or design element which was installed on or in a motor vehicle in compliance with EPA regulations.

2. AN EXTENSION on June 25, 1974, of the tampering ban to include replacement parts makers and dealers. It mentions a goal of assuring unimpairment emission control of vehicles for five years or 50,000 miles.

3. Clean Air Act 1977 amendments broadening anti-tampering to apply to those repairing, servicing, selling, leasing or trading vehicles or engines or who operate a fleet of vehicles.

Armstrong says the EPA used this to "place every individual vehicle owner under its heel" and to block research and development except R&D that the USEPA specifically authorizes.

4. A March 3, 1980, order by the EPA administrator changing the word "manufacturer" to "person."

HE COMMENTS, "Not satisfied with one piece of treachery, the agency promptly put into the Federal Register the incredible statement that the change was significant and not subject to procedural requirements."

"EPA's advance puts me in mind of hearings before the Illinois General Assembly's joint committee on regional government in 1978. Without shame, officials of different U.S. agencies intoned one of their familiar stories."

"Regulations were not mandates of law, but merely guidelines, even though everybody in the room knew with what success guidelines were being used to mistreat and bully the states and others into abject compliance."

"I REMEMBER those proceedings and recall my own warnings of the 'bitter fruit' the state would have to swallow if it failed to face the unpleasant truth about regionalism and grants."

Armstrong says the U.S. Supreme Court later ruled that regional government—in "controlling state activities through regulations"—was unconstitutional.

"But trouble is far from over. The EPA knows that, if it is able to trick states into concurrence, it can respond to the court's decision," he asserts.

He quotes Steven Hoover, chief of the EPA's Mobile Enforcement, Tampering Section, as saying that "once all states have enacted inspection and maintenance laws, the federal government can step in with full and absolute control over state functions."

THE GRANITE CITY says a new law would apply to all 102 counties, instead of six or seven, because courts would not permit the law to be discriminatory.

He cites April and May 1984 events, speeches and announcements as indications of a possible conspiracy to pressure legislators to act. He tells of "secret memoranda acknowledging regional districts," such as one in Southwestern Illinois.

Armstrong, who has been following the progress of Bill 1863 closely, says a supposed earlier hearing never took place; a Senate panel "neither solicited outside comments, nor had anything in its file to establish public participation."

"ON FRIDAY, May 4, the House Transportation Committee held hearings on House Bill 3151 even though its regularly scheduled day for hearings is Tuesday. Only proponents of the bill and representatives of construction and test equipment were present."

"Why is the state so eager to pass a law beyond the jurisdiction of the EPA, claiming the agency will cut off grant-request funds, when EPA can only withhold, and then for a limited time, between eight and 30 percent of the money due, before the full amount must be released?"

"While we are being pressed on the outside by advocates of a strong central government, on the inside we are being squeezed to death by a regulatory agency which, with cooperation from an indifferent state, seeks the same goal."

"COMPULSORY emission testing and maintenance, far from being a remedy for polluted air, is just a link of a chain with which the agency hopes to pound the state into ruin in deference to its unwavering desire for a new type of American, one completely subservient to a regulatory body and wholly bound by its restrictions."

"The EPA is ever fearful and suspicious. It believes that while it remains pure, it is, in every way, else in time goes bad and inevitably works some mischief on its vehicle, doing things piecemeal just to frustrate the regulators and vastly complicate their lives."

"At the bottom of the Great Seal of the United States are three muscular words heralding a new age of freedom. As our nation was being founded, no man was sentenced by the chance of birth to a life of subordination, and no group or class of men was ordained to rule over others."

"I have worry, but great hope that enough men and women can still be found who will pin their star to the principle of freedom and will say an emphatic 'no' to the EPA."

$24,000 house fire

Granite City firefighters extinguished a blaze at the home of Grady Tatum, 3129 Aubrey Ave., occurring during the weekend. A total of $15,000 damage was listed to the frame structure and $9,000 loss to contents.

Cause of the fire is undetermined at the present time, a spokesman for the fire department said today. The blaze primarily was confined to the kitchen and living room areas. Firemen remained at the scene for one hour and 47 minutes.

VENICE MAN IS CHARGED AFTER PURSUIT BY POLICE

Elmer Conrad Gardner, 30, of 121 Granville St., Vandalia, was charged last week with a warrant on a failure to appear in court on a city ordinance, fleeing to elude, driving under the influence of alcohol, illegal transportation of alcohol and two counts of resisting arrest.

According to police reports, Gardner attempted to flee police and officers had to use force to place him under arrest. Police also recovered a bottle liquor from Gardner's car. He was released on $1,112 cash.

not plan to retire immediately, but would do so before February 1985. He noted that he was among the candidates to replace Fischley. He told the Press-Record that if there were plans to move him from Granite City before that time, he was unaware of them.

SWANSON, 53, joined National Steel in 1960 as a project engineer at the Stran-Steel Division in Terre Haute, Ind., in product development in Houston, Texas, and moved to the research and development area at the National Steel Research Center in Westmont, W.Va., as a research engineer in 1963. He progressed through a number of assignments before transferring to the Granite City Steel Division in June 1974.

Here, he has served in a number of quality control and operations positions including general superintendent—primary, general superintendent—finishing and in October 1982, director-operations. "He brings significant technical expertise and managerial ability to this new assignment," the announcement to employees said.

some departments, aldermen growl when putting one person on, but in other places aldermen want to put more and more people on."

MAYOR PAUL Schuler said he felt the person should be hired. "Schulze feels he needs this person. He's staking his reputation on the qualifications of this person," he said.

"I don't know about the rest of you aldermen but I have taken a lot of complaints from people about the sewer breaks not being done. These are the people we are trying to protect."

"I don't think you realize the seriousness of this problem. Some people have open cesspools in their yards."

ALL SCHULZE is asking is that you hire one person for $5 an hour to help clean up the problem and you people are trying to kill it. Well you can go ahead, but I won't be a part of it. If the responsibility of the sewer breaks will be on your backs if you don't pass it."

Alderman Mike Varadani said he was not against hiring someone to do the drafting, but he thought the city should hire someone "who can do the job. I don't think we should hire someone who we are going to have to give guidance."

SCHULER said to hire a professional draftsman would cost the city $30,000 to $35,000 a year.

ALDERMAN WOODY Moad said he would agree to hire the $5-an-hour man. "I'll hire your man, but don't put the responsibility of the sewer breaks on my back," he said to Schuler.

Whitmer said he feels in the SWANSON SERVED in the U.S. Army during the Korean Conflict from August 1952 to May 1954 and was discharged as a first lieutenant. In addition to the new assignment for Sambuchi and the promotion for Swanson, National Steel yesterday announced the promotion of David Chatfield from general manager of Midwest Steel to vice president-general manager of Midwest Steel.

In the announcement to employees, C.C. Gedeon, vice president-operations for National Steel, said, "Please join me in extending your full cooperation and support to Ed Sambuchi, Bill Swanson and Dave Chatfield as we undertake to solidify National Steel as the top-quality, low-cost producer with the safest work environment in our industry."

future, department heads should have let the council know ahead of time what might possibly happen, such as maybe needing additional help in the engineering or street departments. "On this sewer job we're stymied," he said. "If he (Schulze) says we need him, I wouldn't want to slow him down."

Varadani asked Schulze how he will utilize these three employees and the two part-time CETA employees in that department.

SCHULZE said the two student engineers, Susan Squires and Rick Bicanic, will do topographical work for the project. In other words, they will go out on the various sewer sights and measure buildings, objects, trees or anything that would interfere or come close to the work.

He said Hewlett would be occupied with drawing up the plans, as well as handling annexations, stop signs, no parking signs and more.

Schulze said he is not sure how he will work the CETA employees until he sees what their capabilities are. He said he would probably keep one in the office and one with the field crew.

GRANITE CITY, ILL.

City to sue employee for unearned pay

Granite City Council members approved a motion Tuesday night to take legal action against a former sewage treatment plant worker, who reportedly owes the city $400 in sick pay, vacation pay and tuition.

According to City Comptroller Joe Miklovic, the former employee retired from the treatment plant on April 1, but did not inform the city of his plans until two days before he was scheduled to return to work from his vacation.

Among the money that the man owes the city, is vacation pay, Miklovic said. The former employee was not entitled to a paid vacation because he had not reached his anniversary date with the city, but since the city thought he was going to complete his year, it honored his request.

Another bill which the man allegedly owes to the city is $120 in tuition for a course he took at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville (SIUE) pertaining to wastewater treatment. According to Miklovic, the city pays for the tuition of the course, but if the employee does not turn in his grade to prove he completed the course, the tuition is deducted from his paycheck.

Miklovic said the employee was required to turn in his grade by March 31.

The final payment being sought is sick leave pay for March 13 and 16. To be eligible for sick pay, employees are required by the department head, Terrence McMillan, to turn in a doctor's slip proving he was ill. The man did not turn in slips for these days.

Miklovic said the reason the employee was paid for all of these items is due to the computer payroll system that is implemented in the city. He said the checks for the employees are drawn up a week before the employees actually receive the checks.

In this case, the man's March 15 check which also included a vacation check, was drawn up on or about March 8. This was prior to the days he was sick and prior to the deadline that the employee was given for turning in his grade from the SIUE course.

Miklovic said the former employee's tuition and sick pay would have been taken out of his next check (April 15), but, by this time, the man was no longer an employee of the city.

Miklovic said this was an "extremely isolated case" and that the city could not have prevented it, given the system used to issue paychecks.

THIEF DAMAGES VEHICLE

Inspector contends pickup truck inspections needed

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Branding of Granite City recently attended the fourth annual meeting of the Motor Vehicle Safety Council (MVSC) in Chicago. Branding, who owns Branding's Service Station, says the meeting reinforced his belief in Illinois' truck inspection law. The Illinois State Legislature currently is considering legislation which would repeal that law for trucks weighing less than 8,000 pounds.

Citing figures provided by the MVSC, Branding says repeal of the law would force more than 500 safety lane businesses to close. Branding, who currently inspects trucks as required by law, says that concerns him because of the possible effect on his business. But he says he also is concerned about safety.

"We've done this (inspected trucks) so long, that we see the faults that cause accidents," Branding says.

According to the U.S. Department of Transportation and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, between five and 12 percent of all accidents are related to safety defects in vehicles. Figures provided by the MVSC show that in Illinois one out of every four trucks cannot pass the safety inspection.

"We'd like to have some of the representatives sponsoring (the repeal) to visit the safety lanes and see some of the defects we find," Branding says.

SEEKS MEDICAL HELP AFTER BEING INJURED

Jerry Ryan, 2124 Benton St., told police during the weekend that he was struck in the mouth by a thrown beer bottle during an altercation in the 2400 block alley of Illinois Avenue. The man responsible fled prior to the arrival of police, he alleged.

Ryan, who sustained cuts to his lips and chin and had two front teeth broken, went to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment, reports said.

Thirty minutes later, Ricky M. Parker, 25, of 4734 Lake Drive, Lot 12, was taken into custody in the 2400 block of Illinois and charged with battery in connection with the case.

Four hubcaps worth $400 were stolen from the 1979 auto of Deron Harbek, 3925 Village Lane, he reported during the weekend.

Emission testing has various forms

By Joan Muraro

SPRINGFIELD — In four Illinois counties at least, the long-delayed "inspection and maintenance" program will almost undoubtedly be a reality before long.

Recently, representatives of a Crystal Lake firm which manufactures I&M testing equipment were in Springfield to demonstrate just what is likely to be involved when a motorist brings his vehicle in for mandated checking.

The idea of requiring such tests has surfaced repeatedly over the years, but failed each time to gain acceptance. Now, however, the federal government has warned Illinois officials the state will lose $100 million in highway money unless the state adopts an I&M program and Sen. Max Coffey, R-Charleston, has introduced an administration-backed bill, S 1863, mandating emissions testing in Lake, Cook, Madison and St. Clair counties starting in 1985.

Implementation of a testing program can vary widely, according to officials of Sun Electric Corp., who were demonstrating their Sun Inspector II. States may opt for centralized or decentralized inspection stations, and the pollutants for which they test differ from state to state.

In a centralized operation, special buildings are erected which house a number of inspection lanes, all of which are linked to a central computer which is on the site and immediately records all data.

Faults found in a centralized operation are not corrected there. Instead, the car owner must take his vehicle to a licensed repairman and then return the vehicle for a second test after the corrections have been made.

In a decentralized or "repair-based" operation, a free-standing computer is purchased by the garage owner (at an estimated cost of $6,000 to $9,000), and data generated during its use by operators who must complete a 16-hour training course is recorded on cassette tapes. The tapes are collected by state or company officials, or mailed in by the garage owner, depending on the state requirements, according to Dan Chapin, vice president of business development for Sun Electric.

In a decentralized operation, deficiencies which are found can be corrected at the same garage where the test was done, and follow-up testing can be done there, allowing the entire testing and compliance operation to be done in one visit.

Twelve states currently use centralized testing programs, though New Jersey is going to a decentralized program next year. Fifteen states have decentralized programs, and Michigan and Ohio are expected to go the decentralized route when they set up their programs in 1985.

Proponents of the decentralized operations maintain it is more beneficial to motorists since it tends to avoid long waiting lines for testing, allows testing to be done in connection with regular tuneups, and permits immediate on-site correction of deficiencies.

The tests can be done in as little as seven minutes by experienced personnel, according to Randy Leodore, manager of market development for Sun, with a maximum testing time usually running no more than 15 minutes.

In most states, maximum costs for testing are legislated, with a $10 cost typical, and some states also set maximums on repair costs which can be imposed because of deficiencies, Chapin said. Compliance standards are adjusted to reflect the vehicle's age and capabilities.

In some states, Leodore said, if an owner makes a good-faith attempt to comply and spends a pre-set maximum amount, such as $50, on repairs without bringing the vehicle into compliance, the owner is given a waiver allowing him to drive the vehicle legally.

The equipment is highly security-oriented, designed so operators cannot tamper with the record tape, or alter information going into the machine. To ensure that the machine itself is functioning properly, it must be recalibrated weekly, and will not continue to function until the calibration has been carried out, Leodore said. Various other fail-safe components built into it halt operation if any malfunctions occur, such as holes in hoses which would dilute emissions.

In the demonstration, using cars belonging to a state senator and a representative (of opposite political parties, for bi-partisan fairness, Chapin said), a clip from the computer was attached to a spark plug, and a long tester resembling an oversize oil dip stick was inserted in the car's tailpipe.

The operator then merely completes a pre-programmed test program feeding in one line of information at a time into the computer which, at the end of the test, evaluates the data and determines if the car has passed or failed.

In the California model being demonstrated, 11 anti-smog items of equipment were evaluated, along with a three-item engine system check, and testing of emissions both when the vehicle was idling and at high RPMs. (Most states require only the idling engine tests, Leodore said.)

In addition to recording the data on tape, the computer prints out paper copies of the test results for both the auto owner and the shop operator.

File charges against Chicago Heights men

Brian L. Sims, 19, was charged with prowling and Chris A. Hatfield, 19, was booked on a charge of trespassing last week. Both men are from Chicago Heights, Ill.

The pair was arrested after Mrs. Kathy Love of the 3100 block of Edgewood Avenue, accompanied by two women friends, returned home and saw a man go into her garage. The women drove past the house. They noted that the man tried to hide in the garage but fled when they turned the vehicle around.

Moments later, an auto drove slowly past and two of the women went to check the dwelling while one woman followed the vehicle. It eventually was parked in a driveway on Kilarney Avenue.

She obtained the license number and called police from a nearby residence. An auto driven by Sims left the driveway and was stopped by officers at Edgewood and St. Clair avenues. He told of dropping off a passenger to visit a friend, but was unable to provide an address.

Two hours later, Hatfield was picked up by Pontoon Beach police and was transferred to Granite City custody. Sims was fined $100 and Hatfield was fined $50 when they appeared Thursday afternoon before Circuit Judge George Moran Jr.

improvements affecting Granite City High School and Coolidge Junior High School.

—HIRE THOMPSON Associates for up to $1,800 to prepare preliminary specifications on three potential methods of repairing a broken, underwater Coolidge sewer line.

and sought bids on installing additional chairlifts for the physically handicapped at GCHS.

Internal studies by the school district last month showed a number of possible steps that might be taken to balance the budget, retire some of the operating debt, and pay for building renovations.

POSSIBLE ACTIONS involve use of working cash fund bonds, funding bonds, an increase in existing tax rate limits, or proceeds from the sale of school buildings.

Also, tax anticipation warrants, tax anticipation notes, state aid anticipation certificates, fire prevention and safety taxes or bonds, capital improvements, building bonds or special education building fund taxation.

Supt. B.J. Davis on March 27 suggested a tax election this November. The board has not yet acted on the proposal.

His views, presented at a public hearing, related that the school system "must weigh financial practicalities against educational services."

"THIS DISTRICT, while realizing a step in the continued increase in its indebtedness, has not reached financial stability."

"It will need to continue seeking both expenditure decreases and revenue increases. But we have very little room left for expenditure decreases without causing a decrease in the many services we offer to pupils."

Saying that staffing for the next school year does not envision increased services or class size reductions, Davis noted that in recent years "the state has cut its aid to Granite City schools from 50 to 41 percent of the budget."

"There have been no increases in revenue to offset this decline, when compared to the increased costs being experienced by schools.

School finances

"WE MUST, in the near future, seek increased assistance from local citizens. We have made reductions that bring us close to seriously damaging our services to children."

"The public should be given the opportunity to decide: Are we going to make further reductions? Or is the public willing to financially support the district in maintaining what it now offers until additional relief is forthcoming from the state?"

Some of the roofing installation contracted for this week is covered by insurance and results from this spring's hailstorm damage.

BIGGEST AWARD went to Quad City Roofing, $74,919 to roof all of Grigsby Junior High School. Derbigum roofing is to be used, with a 10-year guarantee to the district.

Professional Urethanes, Inc., LaCrosse, Wis., which installed the existing urethane foam roof at damage at Prather for $69,840. The guarantee is for five years.

For $11,283, Geissler Roofing will repair four separate areas of the Granite City High School Derbigum roof, giving a six-year guarantee.

GEISLER ALSO will provide Derbigum for the Niedringhaus School cafeteria roof for $7,072, guaranteeing the roof for six years.

The Derbigum roof of the original section of Marshall School will be redone by Hibel Brothers for $4,350, with a 10-year guarantee.

For $1,125, Whitehead Roofing & Insulation will do Derbigum patching on the GCHS slate roof.

PROPERTY INSURANCE for $55 million in replacement costs was awarded to Arthur J. Gallagher & Co., represented by Chris Koennemann, who said it will be placed with Insurance Corp. of Ireland, Ltd.

Although ICI has no assets in the U.S. and its surplus funds total only $7,919,702, there is adequate security because of re-insurance with other firms, Koennemann told the board.

C.J. Thomas was awarded workmen's compensation insurance on a bid of $24,033.

DATA PROCESSING needs were discussed at length by the board and Supt. Davis. Finance Director Norman Owca, Data Director Monte Kessler, Assistant Data Director James Jeffries, Elementary Schools Administrator Warren Collins and GCHS Principal Gilbert Walmsley.

Options include buying a new mainframe computer to replace one that is 12 years old. The equipment would expand the types of automation available to the schools and would virtually eliminate duplication of record-keeping tasks, Kessler said.

Also under consideration is acquisition of an additional microcomputer to handle attendance statistics at GCHS.

Collins said $12,000 in Chapter II federal categorical funding is available for either type of computer. Additional information on services, costs and savings will be compiled for the June 26 board meeting.

TREATED AT HOSPITAL AFTER DISPUTE IN LOT

Police went to the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center during the weekend, where Randy Meyer, 325 English Place, Mitchell, was being treated for abrasions to the neck and facial swelling. Meyer alleged being struck twice in the face and knocked to the ground in the parking area of Geo's Lounge, 3304 Nameoki Road. He did nothing to provoke the incident, Meyer said.

New miniature parks to be built in Eagle Park

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Three miniature parks will be created in the Eagle Park Acres area during the summer months. It was announced this week by Edgie Lee Salmond, president of the Eagle Park Action Committee.

Young people in the area are being recruited this week to participate in the annual cleanup drive, which is scheduled to start on a community-wide basis Monday, June 11.

THE YOUTHFUL volunteers will be assisting workers provided to Eagle Park through the Job Partnership Training Act, formerly CETA, in various projects, Salmond said.

Beginning Monday, about four JPTA personnel are expected to be assigned to the unincorporated community, located off Route 303 south of Madison.

Among the planned projects for the volunteers and JPTA workers are constructing picnic tables, converting drums into trash containers, painting fire hydrants and making general improvements.

STREETS WILL BE cleaned and the entire area will be spruced up, Salmond said. He stressed, however, those participating in the cleanup campaign will not go on to private property.

"We're going to try to interest our young people in creating some 'do it yourself' type projects, while helping the community at the same time," the action committee president explained.

The three miniature parks will be created on vacant lots in the 200 block of Roosevelt Street, 200 block of Terry Street and the 200 block of Hill Street.

"WE INTEND to install play equipment, picnic tables and basketball backboards and rims in these areas," he reported.

Salmond announced also the three bedroom house built by the Eagle Park Action Committee in 1980-81, using a Community Development grant, has not yet been sold. A family has been renting the property for the past three years with the option to buy, but has not indicated they intend to purchase the dwelling, he advised.

If the house is not sold by the end of June, he said, the dwelling will be converted to a "heat home," where senior citizens and those with small children whose homes are without air conditioning can seek shelter from extreme summer temperatures when they occur.

THE DWELLING still is being offered for sale through June at a cost of $35,000, Salmond said.

Also during the summer months, the action committee hopes to sponsor a series of community events, such as car washes or small carnivals to raise funds to assist young people in the neighborhood who are planning to attend college this fall.

Leaks found in park pools

Closing the wading pool for small children at Wilson Park swimming pool this week prompted Nancy Sanders, chairman of the engineering committee of the Granite City Park District, to call for a special meeting Wednesday night.

At the special meeting, park board members will discuss with representatives of R.W. MacDermott & Associates of St. Louis, the exact cause of the leak and an immediate solution to the problem.

THE ST. LOUIS engineering firm noted the leak is in the supply line that feeds the small pool and, with that decision, the committee now is waiting for estimates from area plumbers to proceed with the repair project.

The main pool is still in operation, but also has a leak in the main return line system and the committee also will discuss with the engineers the possible repair of this problem at the same time.

If repairs are started on both pools, they will be shut down for at least two days, and possibly longer, to complete the work. The committee hopes to start the work next week, according to Superintendent of Parks Dave Nolan.

Schulze reports on sewer repair progress

Granite City officials met with members of the Emergency Management Agency (FEMA)

Tuesday to discuss progress on the repair of the city's sewer breaks.

According to Acting City Engineer Ed Schulze, the agency has given the city a deadline of Sept. 1, to finish repairs on seven of the sewer breaks. Schulze said the September deadline represents the second extension of the original deadline of the project, which was to be completed in April.

"I THINK we can meet this deadline," Schulze predicted.

Schulze said he and FEMA representative Ronald Buddecke also discussed problems the city is having with a firm which is working on nine of the city's sewer breaks. Schulze said the company was contracted on Nov. 17 of last year, but still has not completely finished work on any of the sites.

HE SAID MANY of the problems the company had earlier were due to the harsh winter weather experienced in Granite City. "In my opinion though, these people have no plan of operation," said Schulze.

Schulze and Alderman Phillip Miller said they had received numerous complaints about the work done by the contractor. Schulze said that many of the complaints concerned the condition the property surrounding the sewer breaks. "Many of the yards where work was done are still torn up," he said.

Schulze said, however, that he thinks about four of the sewer breaks being worked upon by the firm will be completed in a few weeks.

MAYOR PAUL SCHULER told council members Tuesday night that the only thing that would help the city accomplish repairing the sewer breaks more quickly was to have $35 million available for the work.

Since this kind of money is not available, Schulze said, the first thing that has to happen is for the sewers to quit breaking. "It'd cost $35 million just to replace the ones we have now," he said. "A Sverdrup and Parcel (engineering firm) study told the city in a report that there are 'x' number of breaks under water but we don't have the resources to fix all of those. In lieu of that, we are have to do patchwork repairs."

Schulze said if the city runs out of money, it will have to issue tax anticipation warrants or borrow the money.

"IF WE HAVE to borrow, we have to borrow," he said. That's the way it is. Once we have the breaks repaired, we are going to have to go back to the sewers that are not broken and replace those pipes with plastic pipes."

Schulze said the workers will be concentrating on fixing the FEMA-funded repairs first.

2 GIRLS CHARGED WITH TRESPASSING AT GRIGSBY

Called to Grigsby Junior High School, 3801 Carrigil Road, late last week, an officer found two girls, 13 and 15 years old, who allegedly refused to leave the school grounds when told by a teacher.

While the pair was being escorted off the property, they broke free and began fighting with the teacher, reports said.

The 13-year-old, suspended from the school a week ago, was not allowed on the school grounds by Principal Charles Weiss advised the officer. The older girl, a high school student, also was prohibited from being on the grounds during school hours, he noted.

Both girls were charged with criminal trespass to property. The 15-year-old was released to a foster parent on notice to appear for a juvenile hearing and the younger girl was released to a grandmother, also on notice to appear.

A bus will leave the Wilson Park Ice Rink parking lot at 9:30 a.m. and return at 5 p.m. The cost for the round trip is $8.50 per person. Those participating in the trip will shop at the mall until 1 p.m. and then break for lunch at Dufr's Smorgasbord. After lunch, they will travel to the restored historic riverfront area of St. Charles to browse through the antique shops, craft stores and other specialty shops. The bus fee must be paid during registration, and the cost of the lunch is not included in that fee.

Council action could limit number of parades and runs

The Granite City Council approved a motion Tuesday night that may lessen the number of future requests the council receives for parades and running events.

The action requires organizations hosting the events to pay for the necessary police protection. The motion came after a request by the Word of Life Tabernacle church members, who requested that they be allowed to conduct a parade to celebrate the church's 20th anniversary.

Last month, Granite City Police Chief Ronald Veizer said the runs and parades are causing a hardship on the police department.

According to Veizer, when the city gives permission for these events, the city is responsible for the safety of the participants, so the police have to protect them. He said the races were costing the city about $600 each.

In light of this information, council members requested that the city clerk or the mayor get a cost estimate of the police service that would be necessary for this event. "I think we should tell them we will concur if they (the church) will pay for the police expenses incurred," said Alderman Sam Whitmer, adding, "These parades and runs are getting a little bit out of hand."

The council agreed that this policy would be implemented for future parade and run requests.

No decision on an assistant principal

Designation of a Coolidge Junior High assistant principal was on the agenda of the Granite City Board of Education on Tuesday night but no decision on filling the job was announced. Nancy Marti has been promoted from that position to Prather Elementary School principal for 1984-85.

Also on the personnel agenda list were extracurricular faculty appointments, rehiring of honorably dismissed teachers, and requests by administrators for private hearings. No actions took place on these items during the busy, 9½-hour meeting.

Barbara L. Fulmer, a Granite City High School cafeteria employee, was granted a leave of absence for the 1984-85 year due to illness.

Julie Patton, Spanish teacher at Granite City High School, resigned effective June 1. She thanked the district for the opportunity to teach here again; the last previous year in which she taught full-time was 1968. She commented, "Regretfully, at this time I do not feel I can continue with full-time employment. There are too many other obligations and responsibilities that demand my time. I have certainly enjoyed working with Mr. (John) Sellmeyer (also a teacher of Spanish) and the high school students. The Spanish program is excellent."

Effective July 1, Norma Roney is resigning as an executive secretary in the school personnel office. She currently is on leave of absence and has moved to Ellington, Mo.

Resigning from extracurricular work only, Robert McBride will no longer be Coolidge Junior High girls' volleyball coach. He is librarian at Granite City High School.

Pleads innocent to assault charge

William Lee VanHoose, 43, of 3325 Terrace Lane, was booked on charges of aggravated assault and unlawful use of a weapon, but pleaded innocent to the charges in a court appearance at 3:30 p.m. Monday. He was released after posting a $202 cash bond.

VanHoose was arrested at a dwelling in the 3400 block of Lydia Lane, where he allegedly grabbed the resident by the throat, threatened him and displayed a handgun, pointing it at the victim's head.

Police were called and officers allegedly recovered a .38-caliber automatic pistol with a live round in the chamber and four rounds in a clip from VanHoose's auto, parked in the street.

An appointment was also made in the inspection department. Michael Boyd was approved as an electrical inspector.

Burris reported this week that the balance in the state's general funds at the end of May was $293 million, the sixth consecutive month the balance remained above the $200 million fiscal "warning zone" level. June is expected to be an expensive month, with two school aid payments, making up for one postponed from the previous year. The Bureau of the Budget forecasts a balance at the end of June of 125 million.

Retiring Instructor Stresses Physical Education

Dorothy Mitchell ends her teaching career

By PAULA WISE
of the Press-Record

After 32 years of stressing the importance of physical education to Granite City students, Dorothy Mitchell will not be returning to the classroom when school bells ring this fall.

Miss Mitchell, a mainstay in the high school physical education department, retired this year after playing a big role in its development.

In her classes, Miss Mitchell earned the respect of students by bringing across the idea that physical education was just as necessary as other subjects taught in school.

"I THINK I TRIED to show that physical education is important to each individual to make up the total person and that you can't be a whole person if your body isn't physically fit," she said.

"However, I think we need to sell the program more. We need to show parents and students that we are still teaching something in physical education and that it can be important and should be."

Throughout her 32 years in the district, the Southern Illinois University at Carbondale graduate made contributions to several past and present school programs. The Girls' Athletic Association, leadership club, May Day program, dance classes and interscholastic field hockey were a few of the activities in which Miss Mitchell played a key role.

"WHEN I FIRST came to Granite, we had a large intramural program which was headed by G.A.A.," she said. "We had as many as six teams out for field hockey on hockey nights."

"I enjoyed the G.A.A. program because you worked for a different objective. The objective was to have everyone participate and enjoy it. So it wasn't based on how skillful you were, but rather if you enjoyed it you were able to come out and participate."

"I think the more skilled kids might have been a little less challenged. But what they lacked in being challenged, I think they made up for in learning to organize and help out other girls."

ONE OF the biggest changes in the physical education program came in 1955 when the new gym complex was built. Prior to that time, gym classes were held in the auditorium and the school basement.

"When I first came to Granite City we held classes in what was called the rec room," said Miss Mitchell.

"I think I tried to show that physical education is important to each individual to make up the total person and that you can't be a whole person if your body isn't physically fit."

Dorothy Mitchell
Retiring Granite City teacher

"We could only have the auditorium stage a couple of days a week, so the rest of the time we went to the room in the basement of the school where the old shop classes are now."

"Of course if you had dance classes you would have big pillars and posts in the middle of the floor, which made it pretty difficult."

THROUGHOUT THE YEARS, Miss Mitchell continued to work with the school district dance program. She helped to expand the classes to include folk, modern, square, jazz and tap dances, as well as the recently-formed senior ballroom dance class.

The senior dance course was a new experience for Miss Mitchell, for it was her first year as a first-year teacher. The students learned several of the basic ballroom steps, such as the waltz and the foxtrot.

"When we first started with the boys, they could only be juniors and seniors and they were a select group," she said. "Naturally, since we had the best kids in the junior and senior class, there weren't very many problems."

"At first, when we suggested senior dance as a requirement, there were some problems. But after we got going, the boys really looked forward to it."

HOWEVER, MISS MITCHELL feels that Title IX and coeducational physical education classes are not to the overall benefit of either the girls' or the boys' department.

"I don't think it has improved the physical education program that much," said Miss Mitchell. "It started off as a wonderful idea, and there are a few things which probably have some merit, but as far as actually stating that everything has to be coed and so on, I don't think that that has benefited the boys' or the girls' program that much. In fact, I think we had better programs when we had separate departments."

ANOTHER PROGRAM that Miss Mitchell helped in initiating was the junior leadership program. While in high school, the Granite City native served as the first president of the senior leadership program under Miss Barbara Kerch. When Miss Mitchell returned to teach, she felt a need to establish such a program for sophomore girls.

Miss Kerch complimented her fellow teacher for her devotion to the physical education program.

"Miss Mitchell made a terrific contribution to the Granite City School District," said Miss Kerch, who is now retired. "You can't say enough nice things about her. The leadership, hockey, May Day and dance programs all belong to her."

"There was never any job she turned down. She is a real go-getter."

IN 1952, superintendent Russell Johnson felt so strongly about Miss Mitchell's abilities that he contacted her in Kemmerer, Wyo., where she was teaching. He asked her to return to Granite City and fill a newly-formed position.

"I was teaching in Wyoming when Mr. Johnson called me and wanted to know if I was interested in coming back to Granite City to teach," said Miss Mitchell. "They were going to add a third person and were interested in starting a dance program."

AFTER ACCEPTING the position, Miss Mitchell began stressing that students could accomplish greater things by working together. A memorable moment in her career came when a field hockey team she was coaching learned the benefits of teamwork.

"One of the greatest joys for me was that 1977 field hockey team. The girls knew it couldn't be done unless all 11 were contributing to the total thing," she said.

"I remember one game in particular. We lost 1-0 to Springfield Lamphier, but I thought it was the best game we ever played. As I recall that was the most beautiful field hockey game I think I ever coached."

"For some reason or other it all seemed to come together, like they knew how it was supposed to be played. I didn't mind losing because we had played so beautifully."

The 1977 team also was the most successful squad she coached. Her team fell just one game short of a trip to the state finals, losing a 2-1 game to Edwardsville Tigers who went on to finish second in the state.

BUT AFTER 32 YEARS of teaching and coaching, Miss Mitchell decided it was time to "try something else."

"There has to be an end to everything. I think I made my contribution, whatever it was," she said and laughed.

Although Miss Mitchell is retiring this year, the impact she made on the physical education program and the thousands of Granite City students she taught will be felt for many years to come.

Smith stops East St. Louis scoring drive

Double play helps Belleville win sectional, 6-2

By CHARLIE SKAER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY—The East St. Louis Flyers weren't going down without a battle Monday afternoon in the championship of the Granite City Sectional.

Down 5-1 in the top of fifth, East St. Louis shortstop Rodney Lofton ripped a line drive double past Belleville West's diving third baseman Andy Smith. The hit, with men on first and second, drove in one run and brought the Flyers' tying run to the plate.

"I didn't get a good jump on the ball," said Smith. "I got a late start and it flew right by."

"It was a good hit. But coach had preached all season about being on top of things, being prepared mentally to try and stop anything that comes by."

THE COACH'S WORDS paid off seconds later. East St. Louis designated hitter Bobby DeLoach cracked a line drive to Smith's left that sent the third baseman diving again.

This time the West senior had a perfect jump. He snatched the ball in mid-air, protecting it firmly while landing hard on the ground. He then alertly went one step further, jumping up to step on third and force out East St. Louis runner Darryl Johnson, who was drawn off base by DeLoach's line drive.

The unassisted double play put an end to the inning and the East St. Louis threat. With solid pitching from senior Dale Siebenberger, the Maroons went on to take a 6-2 victory for the sectional crown. They face Morton today at 2 p.m. in the opening round of the Class AA state tournament in Springfield.

"THAT DOUBLE PLAY was a real saver," said West coach Chuck Hasenstab. "Andy (Smith) is a fine fielder and what was especially impressive is that he had the right frame of mind to go and tag third."

"He has great composure. I think he's worked his way up to where he actually wants the ball hit to him—he's that confident."

Smith said the double play was more than he expected.

"I was just trying to stop it from going through and letting the runners score," he said. "Just knocking it down would have fine."

"But it (the double play) is just one of those things that happens. Any runner could have been caught off base like that."

SIEBENBERGER ALSO deserved much credit for the West's victory. The senior hurler, who had pitched a 3-2 win over East St. Louis earlier in the season, used a variety of pitches to hold the Flyers to just four hits.

"The last time I pitched against them, the wind was so bad," said Siebenberger. "My breaking pitch wasn't breaking and I didn't have a good curve ball, either. I just had to fire fast balls."

"I knew I had a better chance to-day because it was calm. It helps to have the control."

SIEBENBERGER ALSO got some run-scoring help from his teammates. West jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first before adding another run in the second to send East St. Louis starting pitcher Steve Hill off the mound. But relief pitcher Derrick Moore wasn't much more effective. West tagged him for two runs in the third, including a run batted in by a double from Siebenberger.

"It helps a lot when you have such a lead," said Siebenberger. "It makes everybody think positively instead of being negative and wondering about the outcome."

Couch Hasenstab agreed completely.

"We didn't waste any time in getting the runs home," said Hasenstab. "They had to get five runs to come back, which is an awful lot against a kid like Siebenberger."

THE FLYERS, who had earned their way into the sectional after defeating Granite City for the regional championship, used three pitchers during the contest. Hill, who started the game with a 8-2 record and 1.36 earned run average, didn't have the usual power that East St. Louis coach Art May was looking for.

"He's been our stopper all year," said May about the sophomore pitcher. "But today he just didn't have any velocity."

May, whose team ended at 22-12, credited Smith for his double play in the fifth.

"If that ball had gone through, it would have made it 5-3 or 5-4," said May. "But that's the breaks. He made a fine play."

EAST ST. LOUIS came back by loading the bases in the sixth. With two men out, Siebenberger gave up a single and walked two. But the Belleville pitcher got out of the jam when he fielded a hit by East St. Louis third baseman Darryl Johnson and threw for the final out of the inning.

Siebenberger put the Flyers down in order during the seventh.

"We didn't have enough hits," said May. "We couldn't do any running because we didn't put enough men on base. But we'll be back. We've got pretty many kids who'll be here next year."

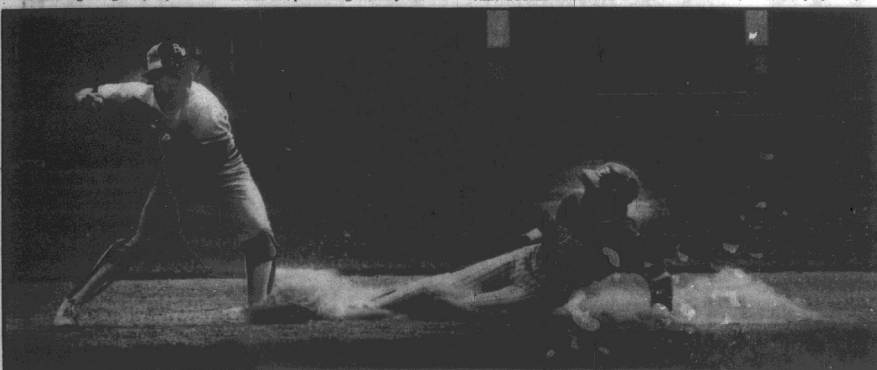

West used three doubles and a pair of singles to drive home five of their six runs. An error by East St. Louis shortstop Rodney Lofton accounted another of West's runs.

The win upped Siebenberger's record to 5-2, improving West to 19-9 for the season.

FORCE OUT. East St. Louis Flyer Mark Adams is forced out at second base as Belleville West's Mark Lanxon attempts to complete a double play in the fourth inning of Monday's Granite City Sectional game. Although the double play was unsuccessful, West went on to win the game 6-2 and advance to today's state quarter-final game in Springfield.

Pitches 10-2 victory over Dupo Gray enjoys Mitchell win

By CHARLIE SKAER
of the Press-Record

MITCHELL — No doubt about it — Eric Gray was enjoying himself Wednesday night.

The Mitchell Jr. American Legion pitcher struck out 13 batters and allowed only four hits in going the distance in a 10-2 romp over Dupo.

And although victories aren't new to Gray, who finished 4-0 for the Granite City High sophomore baseball squad this year, Wednesday's win was somewhat different.

"This is a lot more fun," said Gray, comparing Jr. American Legion pitching to high school action. "The coaches aren't always on you."

THE CANDID RESPONSE marked the relaxed atmosphere that prompts many high school players to participate on summer league teams. Absent from the summer program is the strictness that accompanies many high school sports.

Mitchell coach Larry Gray says the summer league difference is intentional.

"We tell the kids to have fun," said

Gray, no relation to the winning pitcher. "They go out there more relaxed and perform better."

The coach's theory seemed valid Wednesday night. The Mitchell team collected 11 hits, including two home runs, three triples and three doubles. However, the coach agreed that the long fly balls received some help from an unusually strong wind to left field.

"Normally the wind is blowing this way," said Gray, motioning towards the dugout. "We usually eat dust all night."

BUT WEDNESDAY NIGHT it was the Dupo infielders that were eating dust, courtesy of the steady stream of Mitchell baserunners.

Mitchell took command of the game early on, scoring three runs in the first of a home run to left by first baseman Steve Davis. Third baseman Randy Burgess then doubled to right and was later driven in by a double off the bat of designated hitter Billy Moore. Catcher Derek Merz knocked a small bloop to center to drive home Moore and put the score at 5-0.

Pitcher Jeff Plunkett was obviously struggling on the mound with only one man out. But Dupo coach David Thompson wanted Plunkett to work out of his troubles, as the Dupo hurler threw a strikeout and forced a pop fly to end the inning.

44 HAD FAITH in him," said Thompson, whose team was performing in its season opener Wednesday. "He was off tonight, but they (Mitchell) had some pretty good sticks."

Mitchell added three more in the second off of run-scoring hits by outfielder Freddy Becker, shortstop Greg Ehlers and first baseman Davis.

Dupo scored their only two runs in the fifth, receiving some help from two Mitchell errors. Center fielder Kurt Hylla dropped a fly ball hit by leadoff man Terry Shelby. Dupo second baseman Colin McClenahan hit a single past first, advancing Shelby to third.

Mitchell second baseman Tom Mosby then dropped a fly ball off the bat of Dupo second baseman Jose Arendall and Shelby crossed the plate to make the score 8-1. Shortstop Jeff Crawford came to bat and bunted back to the mound. When Gray threw to first, McClenahan rushed from third to home and cut the lead to 8-2.

Mitchell got the two runs back, scoring one off a home run by Mosby in the fifth and adding another run in the sixth when relief pitcher Lee Mitchell walked Gray with the bases loaded to send Moore home.

The win improves Mitchell's record to 2-0. The team will travel to Greenville for an 8 p.m. contest.

To face Vanzo's tonight Spanky's takes second loss

By AL BARNES
of the Press-Record

ST. LOUIS COUNTY — The 7-Up-Spanky's team lost a 10-inning baseball game Tuesday night to a tough-playing Sotolar Pointers team, 7-6, without their regular shortstop and second base combo, Doug Peters and Roger Hill.

The duo from Delta State in Mississippi failed to arrive for the game at Maryville College because their auto broke down.

The loss dropped Spanky's record to 3-2 and upped the Sotolars to 6-3.

SOTOLAR JUMPED out in front on a towering homer by Dave Stiemmer off of Spanky's starter Steve Wels. The roof really fell in on Spanky's in the third when the first four Pointer batters hit safely — singles by Terry Repp, Terry Cochran, Dave Parsons and Dave Holder — to take a 4-0 lead.

Holder, who starred for three years as catcher at the University of Missouri at Columbia, increased the lead to 5-0 when he led off the fifth with a home run.

In the seventh, however, Pointers' mound ace Mick Gildahaus appeared to weaken. He was replaced in the eighth inning by former SIUE reliever Chaun Wilson.

IT QUICKLY BECAME obvious that 7-Up-Spanky's had no intention of giving up. Oral Roberts University star catcher Keith Hoskinson, playing third for Spanky's, was hit on his right hand by Wilson's first pitch in the eighth. Joe Gasaway walked and advanced on a fielder's choice off the bat of Gerry Gergens, a pitcher who filled out by patrolling right field.

Hoskinson then scored Spanky's first run on a wild pitch. Two more walks filled the bases and Granite City's Jack Scarborough slashed a single to right on a hit-and-run play that scored two and cut the Sotolar lead to 5-3.

WITH TWO ON and no outs in the ninth, Joe Gasaway singled during another hit-and-run play to score Hoskinson and Terry Greco, who had reached on singles. That sent the game into extra innings with the score tied, 5-5.

In the 10th, J. V. Victorian led off with a walk. Scarborough hit sharply to third and was thrown out. But the speedy Victorian rounded second and advanced to third on the play.

Player-manager Bill Stolle hit a long ball to deep center, which sacrificed Victorian across the plate with the go-ahead run, 6-5.

GERRY GERGENS, who had relieved starter Wels in the sixth, promptly walked Bowers, the Sotolar lead-off hitter in the bottom of the 10th. He was sacrificed to second and later scored the tying run on a double by Terry Repp. Dave Parsons knocked in Repp to score the winning run for the Pointers.

Keith Hoskinson continued his hot hitting for Spanky's as he went three-for-three raising his batting average to .460.

Spanky's will be back in action tonight against Vanzo's Mine Run U, which is loaded with local college players.

The nine-inning game is set for 7:30 at Hoppe Park in Edwardsville. Spanky's defeated Vanzo's, 6-2, in a June 2 matchup.

The 7-Up-Spanky's team lost their first game Sunday in the nightcap of a double header against the Cape Girardeau Capahaws. Spanky's won the opener, 5-1, and appeared to be the apparent winner in the second game when they took a 12-5 lead. But the Capahaws rallied to take a 13-12 victory.

SOTOLAR: Holder HR, 1B, 1 RBI; Stiemmer HR, 1B, RBI; Repp 2B, 2-1B; Parsons 2-1B; Cochran 1B; Relling 1B. WP: Larson. LOB-9.

Christian Science annual meeting held

The annual meeting of members of the Christian Science Church, founded in 1879 and today includes nearly 3,000 congregations in 57 countries, was held in Boston, Mass., this month.

The gathering focused on what Christian Scientists term their "pastor," the Bible and the Christian Science textbook. Speakers emphasized the role of this textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by the church's founder, Mary Baker Eddy, in unlocking Bible treasures in somewhat the same manner as a deeply inspired sermon.

As a church of laymen, with no clergy, Christian Scientists place special emphasis on the "pastoral" role of the scriptures word which, they feel, offers daily guidance, comfort and healing.

During the session, Church President James K. Kyser of Chapel Hill, N.C., presented the gavel to the incoming president, Eddie Hatfield of Hingham, Mass. A native of England, Miss Hatfield served with the Royal Air Force in Southeast Asia and the Middle East before emigrating to the United States to serve at the church's headquarters. She recently resigned as trustee of The Christian Science Publishing Society to devote her full time to the public practice of Christian Science.

Daughters of Union Veterans observe Flag Day with tribute

Daughters of the Union Veterans of the Civil War, Tent 92, conducted their regular luncheon and business meeting last week at Erway's Restaurant.

President Bessie Seibold called the meeting to order and Chaplain Maud Lewis gave the prayer. Secretary Irma Taylor read the records and Louise Thompson gave the treasurer's report.

A thank you note from the Department treasurer for the donation to the Living Memorial for deceased members of Tent 92 was read.

Plans for the Department convention in Bloomington were discussed and Jr. Vice President Joyce Moran read a special tribute to the American flag.

According to the tribute, the first American flag was not made by Betsy Ross. It began years earlier in 1785 when the Stamp Act Congress met in New York City. They established a flag of nine horizontal red and white stripes, which later increased to 13 and were called in England the "Rebellious Stripes."

It wasn't until 1777 that Betsy Ross' design of 13 stars and 13 stripes was accepted by the Pennsylvania State Navy Board. Ross was paid the equivalent of $43 for her design of the ship's colors.

Games at the meeting were directed by Bessie Seibold, and a special prize was awarded to Jeanette Kraus. Guest for the day was Irma McCoy, and hostess was Maud Lewis.

Also attending were Enid Bolin, Leitha Gitchoff, Vi Kassabaum, Vivian Rowden and Peggy Gibbons. The next meeting is scheduled for June 28 at Wilson Park Shelter 5.

Ephesians 2:8 "...For by grace are ye saved through faith; and not of yourselves: it is the gift of God."

Has anyone ever tried to give you a gift and you refused it? They kept trying and you kept refusing. If you refuse long enough the person will finally become discouraged and quit trying. Jesus is offering you a gift today. The gift He has for you is salvation (forgiveness of your sins) and healing for any illness or infirmity you may have.

Are you refusing this gift of salvation and healing? No matter how many times you reject His gift He will never stop trying. Every day of your life He will offer you His gift.

Will you accept this gift of life today?

History of American flag is topic of GOP Women

Louise Thompson, Americanism chairman for the Granite City Republican Women's Club, conducted the opening ceremonies for a monthly meeting held at Burn's Cafeteria, and presented a history of the American flag.

She spoke on the "Story of the Stars" explaining why stars on a blue field were chosen to be part of the flag. Stars have always been beacons and symbols of hope, inspiration and faith, she added. In conclusion she urged all members to display the flag on special patriotic days.

Mrs. Vernice Walter, vice president, presided at the business session with Mrs. Thompson, secretary reading the minutes of a previous meeting, and Mrs. Irma Taylor, treasurer, submitted the financial statement.

She also made a motion, which was approved, to send campaign donations to States Attorney Don Weber and Robert Gaffner, 21st District candidate for congress.

Committee reports were given by: Janette Krause, on community service; Gladys Newman, ways and means; Verne Michel, telephone; Ruth Lucas, sunshine, who said she sent three cards during the month. Paul Lynch and Anne Pare volunteered to assist Mrs. Michel with her committee work.

Program chairman, Mrs. Walter announced the club will hear from precinct committeemen by June 23 and noted that July would be the best time for vacation since all members should start campaigning actively for the November election by Aug. 25.

She also gave a review of the state conference, concerning National Federation Americanism plans to help celebrate the centennial of the Statue of Liberty in 1986. Members adopted the IFRW resolution which reads in part—be it resolved that IFRW join NFRW by raising $10,000, that this gift for a grand lady, the statue, from the great ladies of Illinois in honor of first lady, Nancy Reagan.

Gladys Pape, Edna Lynn, Maud Lewis, Emma Schram, Geneva Wallis assisted in a round table discussion of current legislation. Copies of the newly revised county by-laws were distributed with other material for Charles Percy and Don Weber.

Dorothy Raymond of Alton, and county coordinator for Senator Percy appointed Mrs. Walter senior citizen chairman for Percy.

The next "Saturday" luncheon meeting will convene at 11:30 a.m. on June 23, it was noted.

Calvary Pentecostal to host film showing

The film "It's Friday But Sunday's Comin'," a recounting of the basic claims of the gospel, will be shown at Calvary Pentecostal Assembly, 4650 Maryville Road, on June 9, beginning at 7:30.

This film is attracting national acclaim for Anthony Campolo's qualities as a communicator of the Christian faith. Prescribed with a liberal dose of humor and a heavy Pennsylvania accent, Campolo transcends all stereotypes with his message of hope and challenge for Christians in the 80's.

He has appeared on "The Mike Douglas Show," "Good Morning America" and hosts his own television series in Philadelphia. He is currently chairman of the department of sociology of Eastern College in St. David's Penn., and is founder and president of the Evangelical Association for the Promotion of Education, an organization that promotes economic development in third world countries.

Everyone is welcome to attend and for more information call 931-4090, according to Rev. Harold Maynard, host pastor.

Course in hazardous waste management set at SIUE

"A straight, objective approach" to hazardous waste management will characterize a course to be taught for the Summer University by Stephen B. Hall, professor of chemistry at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

According to Hall, Chemistry 429, which will meet on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 12:40 p.m. in Science Building Laboratory 2224, will "provide the information necessary for self-sufficiency in light of the Resource and Recovery Act (RCRA)."

"BOTH THE legal and the practical aspects of hazardous waste disposal will be covered. In addition to Federal regulations, both Illinois and Missouri state regulations will be covered," Hall said.

Hall highlighted eight specific topics to be addressed. First, the course will provide current information on what generators, transporters, storage and disposal facilities must do to conform with a highly complex law. Secondly, transportation requirements of both the Illinois Department of Transportation and the Federal Environmental Protection Agency will be presented. Such requirements regulate state and federal waste tracking manifests, drum labeling and marking, shipping documents, mandatory training programs, containerization, placarding and fines.

The third matter to be taken up will be standards for generators and haulers of waste, standards and permits for off-site storage, and design/operation standards and permits for disposal facilities. Fourth, insurance and legal requirements imposed by the RCRA will be studied.

FIFTH, IDEAS on the practical establishment of in-house waste management control programs will be discussed, including layout and safety guides on chemical storage and chemical inter-reactivity. Sixth, special disposal problems will then be looked at; such problems may involve asbestos, PCBs and other highly reactive materials that are regulated by environmental legislation.

Seventh, waste exchanges, information clearing houses, onsite recovery, and new technology will be explored. Finally, the course will examine some existing disposal sites and technologies as they apply to particular waste streams.

This discussion will include specific secure chemical wastefills, incinerators, acid/alkaline neutralization facilities, aqueous and chemical treatment sites, solvent recovery, solvent/fuel (BTU recovery), burning sites, and deep well injection.

DISTINCTIVE QUALITIES of this course include coverage of both Missouri and Illinois regulations and problems, with an emphasis on immediate needs of business and industry and effective environmental protection practice, according to Hall.

For further information concerning the hazardous waste management course, interested persons may contact the department of chemistry, Box 656, SIUE, Edwardsville, Ill. 62026, 1-692-2042.

Optical scanning service available

An optical scanning service, one of few in the metropolitan St. Louis and Southern Illinois area, is now available to the faculty and staff at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville through the Office of Academic Services.

The new computer system speeds up the scoring and analysis of examinations and other listed information previously done by keypunch. It scans 425 characters per page at a rate of 20 pages per minute, scanning both sides of the paper simultaneously.

THE NEW system has the capability to figure percentages and break down information into sub-categories. It is available to agencies outside the University on a contractual basis.

BAC teams up to improve economic outlook for area

Belleville Area College (BAC) is teaming up with local businessmen and government officials to improve the economic outlook for this area.

The community college has opened the Business Assistance Center, which will work with area development groups and individual entrepreneurs.

DR. MILES Reynolds, director of the center, explained its services. "The purpose of BAC's Business Assistance Center is to promote economic growth," he said. "We hope to achieve this growth by working as an informational agency for entrepreneurs, local government, and business and labor officials. We will work to effect a partnership among these agencies and people."

"We can help local entrepreneurs who are interested in expanding their businesses and we can help those who are interested in getting into business," Reynolds continued. "We'll provide assistance by informing them of government grants they can seek and by putting them in contact with other agencies and individuals who can help them. We can serve existing industries by setting up training sessions at the college or in their facilities."

Training is an important part of the center's function, Reynolds said. If the Midwest is to modernize its smockstack industry, workers must learn the new technology, he said.

THE COLLEGE can provide this training through courses and workshops, he said. "Traditionally the attitude of business has been that they are training better than anyone else," Reynolds began. "Increasing costs of transportation, lost work time and instructors' salaries are causing them to address training in a more economic way."

"Business and industrial leaders are finding that community colleges have programs that serve their training needs. And community colleges are developing a much more flexible approach toward tailoring offerings to specific needs of business."

This spring, workshops in management skills, personnel relations and use of promotion for profit were offered through the center, which is a member of the Southwestern Illinois Small Business Development Center. That center is housed at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and is funded by the Small Business Administration, the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, BAC, Kaskaskia College, Lewis and Clark Community College, State Community College and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

THE DEVELOPMENT center is just one of a number of economic growth organizations in which the college is participating.

"There are a number of groups that have formed to address economic development," Reynolds said. "I am trying to identify these and meet with each."

For example, he met with area majors in a recent meeting at Scott Air Force Base and attended a meeting of the Kaskaskia Development Area of Southwestern Illinois, Inc., in Freeburg.

"I'M DISCOVERING members of these area development planning commissions want BAC to participate," he said. "They recognize the college is an agency that can be counted on for technical assistance and expertise."

The tie to business and industry also benefits the college. "Through the Business Assistance Center, the community college can keep informed about the needs of business in the community and design programs to meet these needs," he said.

In addition to organizing training programs and meeting with community development groups, Reynolds will be available to meet one-on-one with local businessmen.

REYNOLDS WILL be coordinating Jobs Training Partnership Act (JTPA) programs offered through the college. JTPA is the federal program that replaces CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act).

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Frequently individuals are late with their payment of insurance premiums. This often creates a problem if a claim arises after the premium is due. The Illinois Legislature has determined that certain types of insurance policies must allow for a "grace period" during which the policy shall remain in force.

For a life insurance policy, the law requires that the policy allow a grace period of thirty days in which to pay a premium after it becomes due. During this thirty day period, the policy is still in force even though the premium has not been paid. It should be noted that the company may charge interest at the rate of 6 percent for the number of days late.

If the policy is one for health and accident insurance, the grace period varies with the way the premium is paid. If premiums are due weekly, the grace period is seven days. If they are due monthly, the grace period is ten days, and if it is due any less frequently than monthly, the grace period is thirty-one days.

There are no provisions in Illinois law for grace periods in automobile policies. Whether such a period is granted is left to the discretion of the insurance company. A recent case will help illustrate the problem in this area.

A young girl purchased her first car and obtained insurance with a major company. The automobile policy provided for a twenty-two day grace period. She received notice that the premium was due March 30 of 1984. Because of financial problems, she was unable to pay the premium on the due date.

She called her insurance agent and told him the premium would be late. At that time, he informed her of the twenty-two day grace period. She mailed the premium payment on April 20, 1984 but it was not received until April 24. On April 21, she had an accident, and the car was "totaled."

The question in this case is whether the policy was still in force at the time of the accident. This case has not yet been decided in Court. Whether there is coverage or not will probably depend upon whether the effective date of the renewal was the date the premium was mailed or the date it was received by the insurance company. It is apparent from this illustration that it is important for an insured to know what grace period applies to each of his policies.

GC physical education credit is being increased

Granite City High School credit for physical education, health and driver education classes is being raised for 1984-85 from 26 per semester to 30.

Principal Gilbert V. Walmsley regards the action as a partial solution to compliance with a new Illinois High School Association standard.

The IHSA has changed its eligibility requirement for such programs as varsity athletics. It will be necessary to complete 20 hours of passing work each week instead of 15 hours, in order for a student to remain eligible.

Noting that he has talked with officials at Belleville East and West, East St. Louis, Collinsville, Wood River, Cahokia, Bethalto and Edwardsville high schools, Walmsley said, "There is a tremendous variety of concerns at these schools in regard to this legislation."

"It will treat Granite City athletes considerably more harshly than athletes in many other communities. Many schools revere that every student take a minimum of five subjects plus physical education. A Granite City student can only take four subjects plus PE unless he or she has at least a B average."

"Under this arrangement, any student failing any subject in our school who did not have an extra class, would automatically not be eligible. All of us discussing this situation believe that such a set of circumstances would be too harsh."

"Since PE now is only .26 credit, it cannot be used to offset a failure in some other class. By raising the credit for PE to that of an academic class, this offsetting effect would take place and a student would be able to fail one class and maintain eligibility."

"It will be necessary to raise graduation credit similarly over the next three years until, at some future date, graduation will have been raised to 20 credits. This treats every student in the system identically and does not create a hardship for anyone. It simply alleviates 50 percent of the problem in regard to the new IHSA policy."

GC summer school largest in county

The summer school program in the Granite City district is the largest in Madison County, a survey by Regional School Supt. Harold E. Briggs showed this week.

He said about 556 students enrolled in the Granite City elementary, junior high and high school program scheduled for June 5 to July 17.

In the Madison district, 406 students enrolled. Elementary classes are set for June 4 to June 29 in Madison, and high school classes for June 4 to July 16.

The 3,367 countywide summer enrollment also includes 555 in Collinsville, 445 in Alton, 404 in Highland, 360 in Bethalto, 185 in the Triad district, 165 at East Alton-Wood River High School, 145 in Edwardsville, 70 in Roxana and 70 in the Wood River elementary district.

Briggs commented, "Elementary and secondary students in Macon County are returning to school this summer, taking classes for extra credit and for makeup work, as well as participating in gifted and remedial programs."

"Diverse curriculum offerings are available including English, American history, computer programs, driver education, auto safety, biology, communicating, health, mathematics, consumer education, occupational English, social studies, government, science and typing."

Fingerprinting praised as a helpful volunteer project

Granite City schools' fingerprinting program has earned second place in judging for the yearly volunteer project award of the Greater St. Louis United Way.

The program began a year ago, with more than 5,000 pupils fingerprinted to help their families and law enforcement agencies locate them in the event of an abduction.

The project was continued in 1983-84 for those not participating in 1982-83. Volunteers fingerprinted mostly kindergarten youngsters this year; the total of the new prints was 525.
